Email Headline: Janet Jackson BREAKS Silence On STRUGGLES

Janet Jackson is undeniably one of the most successful pop artists in modern times. Coming from the historical Jackson family, Jackson has had a prominent career in music for nearly 50 years. As of 2024, the sister of Michael Jackson has sold over 100 million records worldwide and even landed an induction into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in 2019. In a recent interview with the BBC, Jackson opened up about her journey into the spotlight, growing up in the famous Jackson family, and her start into one of the most successful music careers of all time.

During her recent interview, Jackson revealed the first song she wrote and recorded in 1975. Following her famous Jackson 5 brothers' return from a 10-month tour, Jackson recalled suffering boredom on a rainy afternoon. Out of curiosity, Jackson said that she snuck into the family's California home recording studio and began to play a song she called "Fantasy". Jackson revealed that she laid the drum track down and recorded the vocals all by herself. Once finished, Jackson claimed she paid no mind to the song and carried on her day as normal. However, the following day, Jackson came home from school to her whole family listening to the song, which they had found in the studio's system.

Jackson recalls being embarrassed that her family had discovered her song, where her famous father, Joe Jackson, told Jackson that it was time for her to start a musical career. Initially, Jackson refused to follow in her brother's footsteps, as the Rhythm Nature singer had originally planned to go to college and study business law. Jackson further explained that it was difficult to argue with her father, following the great success he had created with her brothers.

Nearly 50 years later, Jackson has seen huge commercial success in music and was the first woman to be nominated for Best Producer at the 1990 Grammy Awards.
